

The VoIP eXchange is a dynamically developing online trade system where you and your company is able to buy and sell local and international routes. Our services are used by many satisfied VoIP service providers from all over the world.

All the service providers, having a wide range of customers and experiences on the local or international market, are welcome to join the VoIP eXchange to expand their service portfolio with complex VoIP telecommunication solutions.

Please, contact us about the details of joining the system.